FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New World Angels Invest in Prominent South Florida Biotech Company

October 7, 2005, Miami, FL -- New World Angels (NWA), a South Florida-based group that which invests private capital in high-potential entrepreneurial companies, announced today that it participated in Bioheart Inc.'s most recent $19 Million private placement round. Bioheart is developing innovative therapies to treat patients who suffer from heart disease.

"We are thrilled to be one of the investor groups that is funding this exciting company" said Yuda Saydun, Marketing Vice President for NWA "Bioheart is at the forefront of Florida's growing biotech industry. They are working on one of the only cell-based, non-invasive therapies to treat patients who suffer from Myocardial Infarction or Congestive Heart Failure."

Howard J. Leonhardt, Chairman and CEO of Bioheart, added: "We welcome the team of investors at New World Angels. We look forward to working with them in a long, mutually beneficial partnership."

New World Angels joins other participants in this round including Advent-Morro Equity Partners, The ASTRI Group, Magellan Group, Presidential Capital Partners, Dan Marino Investments, and Minnesota Biomed Partners. Individual investors included Dr. William P. Murphy, Founder of Cordis Corporation, and David Gury, former Chairman and CEO of NABI Biopharmaceuticals.

About Bioheart:

Bioheart, Inc. is focused on the discovery, development and commercialization of cell-based therapy products for the treatment of cardiovascular diseases such as congestive heart failure (“CHF”) secondary to myocardial infarction (“MI”) and cardiovascular electrical abnormalities. The Company believes that its products hold the potential to revolutionize the treatment of cardiovascular diseases and become a new standard of care by offering treatments that improve cardiac function, are more cost-effective and are lower-risk than the current alternatives, which include heart transplantation, biventricular pacing, ventricular assist devices and certain drug therapies.
